DragonFire®
RACING

Dragonfire Racing Shocks

For Popular Polaris and Cam-Am UTVs

In a monotube shock, the oil and gas chambers are separated by a floating piston. There is no cavitation, and the valving is more responsive. Higher gas pressure offers additional resistance, giving the monotube variable for tunability. Increased performance is automatic!

- Dual-Direction Compression & Rebound
- Increased damping force
- Increased heat dissipation
- Our free-floating piston stops the gas and oil from mixing
- Instantly changes from smooth to stiff suspension
- Ease of installation
- Higher performance
